FARMERS' SOCIETY.

F. B. McCown Writes Concerning This Organization.

EDITOR KENTUCKIAN:

We call every farmer's attention in this county to this society first, and then in 160 wheat growing counties next. One dollar and fifty-cent wheat is in sight as the society sees it. In 1905 we campaigned for $1.20 wheat and every farmer got the $1.20 who demanded it.

There have been no good reasons for wheat selling for less than $1.00 since that time. You can do like the broom corn growers on Dec. 11 who sold their crops for $50 per ton; on Dec. 12th the broom corn crop was worth $130 per ton. We are now ready to push the work in every surplus producing section in the United States, not on wheat alone, but on all crops.

As to tobacco, we have been successful in controlling acreage and selling for a profitable price without using any violence. Our growers control the warehouse and not the warehouse the growers. We let the dumper dump, and look upon him as an object of pity, and he soon realizes that the finger of scorn is pointed to him and he comes and offers himself for membership and we receive him.

I believe the time has come for all farmers to recognize the strength and practicability of the true equity plan and they will all be obliged to adopt this to secure their industrial freedom and independence in producing and marketing their crops. We depend upon all good, loyal friends to do all they can to restrain the people who are inclined to lead the people in devious ways and thus confuse them and delay the time for triumph of the Farmers' Society of Equity. We will try to have our national lecturer with us when the time comes for a business meeting and respectfully invite every law-abiding citizen in the county that wants a fair deal and equity in every business relation of life to come and take part with us. We will hold but one meeting unless the wheat growers want it.

Respectfully yours,
F. B. McCOWN.
